Items discussed:

1. An update of the current Culinary Arts Program was given by Linda Taylor. The Culinary Dining Room was discussed on shown to those that had nor already seen it. Status on functions that we are doing and number of Gourmet Nights we are trying to do per semester to get the students more realistic restaurant experience in fine dining.
2. Larry Nail & Clint Stevens both agreed that one area we should cover in our classes is menu & recipe costing because they see that as a major hurdle in the restaurants at this time. I briefed that we do costing in both Baking classes, both Food Production classes, Menu Planning Class and all the Advanced students are required to cost out their independent study products.
3. Size of the current kitchen and classroom and amount of equipment noted to be insufficient for the continuation of growth in the program.

No further business was discussed, and the meeting was concluded.
